From Au Sable Forks, with over 30 years experience, Rob Fountain has worked as a photojournalist for the Lake Placid News, Adirondack Daily Enterprise, and Press-Republican newspapers. He holds a Bachelors in Art from SUNY Potsdam (2001) with concentrations in painting, photography, printmaking and ceramics. In addition to photography instruction, he teaches techniques in mediums including portraiture, using pastel, oils, and charcoal, most recently holding a series at the Au Sable Forks Library.

A collection of Rob Fountain' stunning portraits and photographs works were exhibited at the Tahawus Windows Gallery, Au Sable Forks in 2021 revealing his unique eye and ability to catch just the right light, just the right moment.

With ten years experience as an educator teaching Photography and Intro to Photojournalism to students at SUNY Plattsburgh, Rob provides instruction on how to use cameras through hands on assignments teaching composition, shutter speeds, ISO, lighting and art images, and how to build websites.

"My intent is to create artwork with real feeling and emotional depth to communicate an idea, to make a connection with the viewer, and to evoke an emotional response whether it be joy, sadness or laughter. If I can touch the viewer, then I have accomplished my goal." RF
